

الرقم: .....
التاريخ: / / ١٤٥٥ هـ
المرفقات: .....

المملكة العربية السعودية
وزارة التعليم
جامعة الجوف
كلية التربية

Course Specification

Master of Education in Curriculum and General Teaching Methods

Level	Course name	Code	Specification
	Modern Approaches in Special Education	ED 602	Introducing students to (modern approaches in the field of intellectual disability, in the field of hearing disability, in the field of autism disorders, in the field of learning disabilities, in mental excellence, in the field of vocational rehabilitation, in the field of visual disability, in the field of support services, and the field of modern technology and its use in special education).
	Modern Approaches in Teaching and Learning		Recent approaches in education and learning are important because they aim to change for the better in the educational process. This change is sought by the whole world. This is the interest of many countries in the quality of education, which helps to advance it in all fields. Hence, education or learning plays a vital role in determining the behavior of individuals who work in education for certain situations through experiences that individuals have acquired and gave them a great deal of knowledge.
	Modern Approached in Science Education		It aims to identify the latest approaches in science curricula and the most prominent local, regional and international projects for the development of science education and learning, the theories of teaching and learning and its applications in science curricula, the most prominent approaches and modern strategies in science education and learning and ways to integrate technology and communication into science education and learning.

Level	Course name	Code	Specification
	Modern Approaches in Teaching English Language		Identify historical approaches in teaching English as a second language. 1 - Learning modern theories in the field of foreign languages acquisition. 2 - Applications of modern theories in the field of acquisition of foreign languages through the results of research in the field of teaching foreign languages. 3 - Analytical study of the factors affecting the teaching of English language in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia in light of the modern methods and approaches in teaching English. 4 - Studying the modern approaches to teaching English language and building its curricula, such as (oral audio input, integrated approaches) 5 - focusing on writing research that addresses the problem of teaching English as a second language or in Saudi Arabia.

Level	Course name	Code	Specification
	Education Technology Applications in Curriculum	(CI 615)	The course aims to Know about all new and updated information and communication technologies and the use of modern references. Review published and unpublished studies in Arabic and foreign universities, magazines and periodicals. Taking advantage of the latest experimental research results in teaching methods and strategies for curriculum development applied in teaching and learning methods. Applying some modern teaching strategies.

Level	Course name	Code	Specification
	Educational Research Methods	PSY 602	The course deals with the research methods in behavioral sciences and the development of the skills necessary to conduct research in the field of student specialization. This is done by reviewing the common research methods and methods in behavioral sciences, as well as taking the steps of scientific research starting with testing the problem and ending with discussing the results and recommendations. Students acquire skills in designing, criticizing and analyzing all types of educational research. It also aims at empowering the student with the skills of scientific research and education sciences.

Level	Course name	Code	Specification
	Philosophy and social fundamental s' education	ED 600	This course aims to provide the student with knowledge of the philosophical and social sources from which the ideas and views of education were launched, and to clarify how education relates to the philosophical and social aspects of life, and the most prominent social theories and philosophical ideas that have played an active role in shaping opinions, values and ideas about education and related objectives Methods, systems, etc., through history until the present, and means to define the framework of education according to the cultural influences of the Islamic community in order to provide students with the skills of philosophical criticism and training to see the issues of education and problems in terms of gaze To the individual, the universe, society, knowledge, ethics, values, power, freedom and social change.

--	--	--	---

Level	Course name	Code	Specification
	Research Project	PSY 698	This course focuses on giving students the opportunity to develop and apply new ideas based on the knowledge, skills and experience gained in psychological guidance, and the subject matter and procedures of the research project are determined with the course teacher, in coordination with the department. The course aims to provide students with scientific research skills by studying a real problem based on quantitative or qualitative scientific research methods, or by designing or developing educational software based on educational design principles to solve a real educational/training problem. The course aims to provide students with scientific research skills by studying a real problem based on quantitative or qualitative scientific research methods, or by designing or developing educational software based on educational design principles to solve a real educational/training problem.

Level	Course name	Code	Specification
	Seminar On Psychological Counseling	PSY 695	The course offers a number of tasks that will help the student to produce a research plan that will serve as a road map for his research project. He will discuss with his teacher and his colleagues every step of the plan. In the end, he presents a research plan that is a nucleus and a framework for his research project. The student walks with a professor step by step. He sets out his topic first, and then begins to construct it, starting with the study introduction, then the problem, then the objectives, terminology and methodology. The student continues through what he wrote in each of the previous steps.
	Teaching and education leadership	CICU 617	The course focuses on the aspects of leadership of learning and education by addressing a number of vocabulary including: Recent trends in learning and teaching, how to lead effective learning and learning environments, learning and teaching theories, supervision of learning and virtual learning environments, leadership of professional teaching, . The course aims to provide the learner with the necessary expertise to lead learning and education